

Akashic Records Practitioner Training - Structure

Working title - naming options at the bottom. Structure only at this stage; no fixed dates.

Who it's for

Open entry - no prerequisite. Anyone drawn to the Akashic Records can join. This mirrors how Reiki 1 works for you: the door is open, the depth is earned inside the container, not gatekept at the door.

Format

Cohort program - a group container with a set start date, like Into the Dark. Not squeezed into a fixed week count. Below is a recommended shape you can stretch or compress once you're ready to attach real dates.

Certification pathway

Practitioner certification, with IICT insurance eligibility as the goal.

From IICT's Training Provider Application Guide:

- No fixed hour minimum - IICT doesn't set a number. You define the curriculum (core components, hours, assessments, delivery mode) and they assess whether it's practitioner-level and defensible. Continuing-education-level courses aren't accepted - this needs to read as a real practitioner training.
- Trainer prerequisite: 3-5 years practising the modality. You have this many times over.
- Insurance: you'll need your own current public liability and professional indemnity cover before applying.
- Training manual required, covering scope of practice, client management, and contraindications - not just teaching content.
- Application needs: curriculum outline (hours + assessments + delivery mode), the training manual, a sample graduate certificate, business registration proof, insurance certificate, refund policy, complaint/grievance policy, two reference letters, and the completed modality application form.
- Timeline: roughly 12 weeks once your application reaches the front of the queue - not from the date you pay. Worth submitting early, well before you want to open enrolment.
- Fees: $350 non-refundable application fee, plus an annual plan fee ($328.90 for 2 modalities, $548.90 for 5).

This means the 5-phase structure below can double as the curriculum outline IICT asks for - it just needs hours attached to each phase and a training manual written alongside it (scope of practice, client management, contraindications - separate from the teaching content itself).

Recommended Program Structure

Five phases. Each phase is a live session (or small cluster of sessions) plus integration time in between - practice, journaling, rest. This rhythm matches how Reiki Mentoring and Solid Ground are built: teach, then let it land, then build on it.

Phase 1 - Opening the Field

Foundations, Safety

- What the Akashic Records are (in your words, not the textbook version)
- Energetic hygiene and protection before opening any record - yours and a client's
- The permission-based nature of access - consent, boundaries, what you never do
- Opening and closing the records safely, every time

- Practice: opening your own record, closing cleanly

Phase 2 - Reading the Records

Skill building

- Structure of a reading - what you're actually looking for and why
- Interpreting symbols, patterns, soul contracts, karmic threads
- Trusting what comes through vs. second-guessing (Sacral-authority territory - the gut knows)
- Practice: reading for a peer, receiving a reading, debrief as a group

Phase 3 - Healing in the Records

Deepening

- Healing modalities inside the records - cord cutting, contract rewriting, ancestral and past-life threads
- Holding a client through what surfaces - the Emperor container skill, taught explicitly
- Practice: guided healing session, supervised

Phase 4 - Practitioner Readiness

Business + ethics

- Session structure - how to run a paid reading or healing start to finish
- Ethics, scope of practice, what to refer out
- Pricing and positioning their own offer (light-touch - not a full Solid Ground rebuild, just enough to start)
- Insurance and IICT requirements walkthrough - what they need to do once certified

Phase 5 - Certification Practicum

Assessment

- Supervised practice readings/healings in peer pods
- Final assessment
- Graduation - certificate issued, cohort closes as a container

Delivery notes

- Live sessions online (matches how the other mentoring pathways run)
- Telegram or similar between-session access, like Align + Flow and Soul-Led Business packs
- Recorded sessions available after, so nothing is lost if someone misses a live

Naming - a few directions

- Opening the Records - plain, teacher-voice, matches "Start Moving" style naming
- The Living Archive - more atmospheric, fits Into the Dark's tone
- Keeper Training - names the destination (they become a Keeper of the Records)

What's next when you're ready

No pressure to move on any of this now - it's parked as structure until you want to build content. When you do:

1. Sort your own public liability + professional indemnity insurance if you don't already have it
2. Pick a name
3. Attach hours to each phase and draft the training manual (scope of practice, client management, contraindications)
4. Submit the IICT application early given the ~12 week queue

5. Build session-by-session content in your voice, the same way Reiki Mentoring got built
